

Charges Levelled In Speeches By Rival Candidates

Ike Asserts
Democrats
Stir Disunity

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — Gen. Dwight Eisenhower accused the Truman administration last night of injecting bigotry and class hatred into the presidential campaign, and said his political opponents speak with "the power mad voices of the rabble rousers."

The Democrats, he said, will do anything to win the election Nov. 4.

"Every boss of the administration party will go all out and down the line to deliver. They will deliver by fair means and foul," the general told his audience in a speech at the Buffalo Memorial Auditorium.

His Buffalo appearance closed a hard day's campaigning through Upper New York state. He made eight stops, left his train on several occasions, and spoke to big and enthusiastic crowds all along the route—at Schenectady, Utica, Oneida, Syracuse, Lyons, Rochester and Batavia.

In the day's last speech here, Eisenhower used the strongest language he has ever employed to make his charge that the Democrats have deliberately brought about disunity in the United States and sapped the sources of the nation's strength.

"This unity is being undermined by our national administration," he said. "It is being weakened by men who are more concerned with getting power than for our nation's strength."

"Year after year they have sought to make political profit by setting group against group, special interest against special interest, section against section."

"We hear shrill voices today creating distrust, disunity, and bigotry by falsely accusing others—including myself—of these evil things."

In this, Eisenhower apparently was referring to President Truman's message to the Jewish Welfare Board last Friday in which the President said Eisenhower "is willing to accept the very practices that identify the so-called 'master race.'"

Probably with an eye turned toward the large Polish population of Buffalo, Eisenhower said:

"I have seen first hand the devastating consequences of rabble rousing. Many of you have also seen those devastating consequences. You know how prejudice, bigotry and ill will have been used by unscrupulous men in other nations until those nations were torn apart and destroyed."

He said that "even in the heat of a political campaign" these tactics should be guarded against.

He added: "These bearers of false witness seek to be known as the protectors of those among whom they plant these fears. They are the voices of the rabble rousers—the ignorant, irresponsible, the power mad voices of the rabble rousers."

The general recalled the 1928 campaign when Herbert Hoover defeated the late Alfred E. Smith "to find a parallel for the present battle. Smith was a Catholic, and Eisenhower said that 'the issue of bigotry was raised' in that campaign. He quoted Smith's statement of that day:

"In this spirit I join with fellow Americans of all creeds in a fervent prayer that never again in this land will any public servant be challenged because of the faith in which he has tried to walk humbly with his God."

Eisenhower said, "In that hope I am proud to stand with Alfred Emmanuel Smith."

But, he continued, bigotry is not the whole of his indictment of the Truman administration.

He charged, as well, that morality in federal government has fallen, as he put it, in "an all-time low."

The reason, Eisenhower said, was because machine politics and boss rule have moved in on Washington.

"Tom Pendergast is dead," Eisenhower said, referring to the former political leader of Kansas City and President Truman's sponsor.

"But his political influence, his political morals, his political off-spring, they all go marching on," Eisenhower asserted.

"Bosses," Eisenhower said, intend to perpetuate their rule. He said they will try "by fair means and foul" to win in November.

"What I have been talking about tonight," Eisenhower declared, "are the moral issues of this campaign. They are the campaign's most important issues. As a nation, we lay careful plans against economic and military failure. How much more serious is moral failure! How much more disastrous would be the consequences!"

"We will not take that chance. We will have a change," Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, his Democratic opponent, the general said, does not represent a change.

"The candidate of the administration party has been taken over, body, boots and britches by the administration," the general said. "And he now goes down the line for the administration record."

Anthracite Operators Balk At $1.90 Raise For Miners; Probability Of Strike Grows

Washington, (AP) — Hard coal mine owners balked yesterday at giving John L. Lewis the same $1.90 daily wage boost which the government already has partly shaved down in the soft coal industry.

Lewis was reported trying to get the anthracite or hard coal industry to grant the same wage raise in order to test the government's Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) again.

Dr. Waksman Winner Of Nobel Prize

Stockholm, Sweden, (AP) — Dr. Selman A. Waksman, a Russian-born American scientist, was awarded the 1952 Nobel Prize in medicine last night for unlocking from earth mold the wonder drug streptomycin, the first effective antibiotic against tuberculosis.

Dr. Waksman, 64, is director of the Institute of Microbiology at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, N. J. He is the co-discoverer of the drug, which was made known to the medical world in 1943.

The soft-spoken scientist, informed in New Brunswick of the top award for his years of research said he felt proud in "justifying the ancient saying: 'And from the earth shall come their salvation.'"

The award "is the culmination point of my life's work, begun in 1915 with the study of a humble group of soil micro-organisms, the actinomycetes, which have yielded in recent years some of the greatest benefits to mankind," he said. The prize is worth $33,037 in cash.

Faces Death Penalty Or Life Term

Baltimore, (AP) — George Edward Grammer, 35-year-old father of three children, was convicted yesterday of deliberately killing his wife—and trying to make her death look like an accident—so he could marry a petty New York secretary.

The first degree murder verdict carries either a death penalty—hanging in Maryland—or a life prison term. Sentence was not pronounced immediately.

Grammer heard Judge Herman M. Moser deliver the verdict without the aid of a jury. His face was expressionless. He still wore the grim, gray look he maintained throughout the nine-day trial.

"This court has no difficulty in determining that Mrs. Grammer's death was criminal homicide," the judge said. "It has no difficulty in determining that the defendant was responsible for and did commit that unlawful act."

The woman the judge referred to was Mathilda Mizibrocky, 28, a Canadian who worked at the United Nations headquarters in New York.

She testified that she and Grammer had fallen in love after their first meeting last November and were planning to marry. She said she learned he had a wife only after Dorothy May Grammer's death.

"He was in love with another woman," said the judge, hearing the case without a jury at Grammer's request. "Even if his wife were willing for a divorce, this wouldn't have solved his difficulties."

Miss Mizibrocky, he explained, "was not ready to accept a divorced man as a husband. She is a Catholic. So he had to do something."

"He turned from a loving father into a violator of all these God-given commandments . . ."

"The defendant did not murder his wife because he had a few drinks or because his wife said something about his liking his job more than he liked her. He hadn't reached the stage of blind rage but to quote his own statement, 'I was a little mad . . .'"

Moser said Grammer struck his wife on the head with a piece of pipe in such a way that if their car were demolished in a collision, the injuries would appear to have resulted from the impact.

Grammer put a pebble under the accelerator of his car, Moser added, to hold down the gas pedal and then sent the automobile carrying the body of his wife racing down the sloping road toward a street intersection and a concrete wall beyond.

Mrs. Grammer's body was found in the car the night of Aug. 19 by two policemen. The car had veered in front of them as it raced down the North Baltimore road, rammed up an embankment and overturned.

Bandits Kidnap At Least 14

Sparta, Tenn. (AP) — Police fanned out last night from this Middle Tennessee town in search for four armed bandits who kidnaped during the past two days and escaped in one of three stolen automobiles. The search shifted late yesterday toward Lebanon, 50 miles northwest of here, after a brazen daylight theft of an automobile from the public square.

Although the search centered in the Cumberland Mountain plateau area around here, it extended also into Georgia and Kentucky. All the persons kidnaped at various points along U.S. Highway 41 were released or escaped.

Forest Fires Rage

Charleston, W. Va. (AP) — The state's critical forest fire situation approached record proportions last night amid grim indications it would get still worse before it could be brought under control.

Rains Pound Cuba

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Heavy rains began pounding Cuba last night, signaling the approach of a small but extremely violent hurricane.

U.N. Official Tied To Red Underground

New York, (AP) — Whittaker Chambers testified yesterday that the publications director of the United Nations was a member of the Communist underground in 1936.

Chambers, former underground spy ring courier, told a Senate internal security subcommittee the U.N. official, David Zahlodowsky, had Communist leanings as far back as their college days together at Columbia University.

"He was a member of the Soviet underground in the United States, that's your best recollection," asked Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), presiding at the hearings.

"Yes," Chambers replied, and later added, "without a doubt." The committee also sought testimony about David Weintraub, director of economic stability and development for the U.N.

Chambers could only say that he had heard the name in the underground and had some reason to think it was the same David Weintraub.

Grunewald Indicted On 22 Counts

Washington, (AP) — Henry W. Grunewald, a Washington mystery man and wirepuller, was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on 22 counts of contempt of Congress.

If convicted, he would be liable to a maximum sentence of 22 years in prison or a $22,000 fine or both. However, such maximum penalties are rarely imposed.

Grunewald known as "the Dutchman" and once described as a man who could "walk into senators' office with his hat on," was cited for contempt by the House last April 9.

He was accused of "willful and deliberate" refusal to tell a tax investigating committee anything about his relations with high officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The House Ways and Means Committee tried five times to get Grunewald to tell them about his Washington activities, his friendship with those in high places and his interest in five- and six-figure tax cases.

"Not only was Grunewald's failure to answer consciousness," Rep. King (D-Calif.), chairman of the inquiry group, reported to the House, "but he even refused at one session to acknowledge the fact that members were speaking to him."

Truman Reaches End Of Tour

Aboard Truman Train (AP) — President Truman charged yesterday that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has adopted the methods of desperate "political gangsters" and is being pushed for the presidency in a campaign of lies, slander and fear.

Truman used some of his strongest language of the campaign in a speech at Cumberland, Md., as he reached the end of his fourth whistle stop tour for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

The President said the GOP national leadership has seized upon the "back street" tactics of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and adopted them "on a national scale this year."

First Absentee Ballots Mailed To Servicemen

Harrisburg, (AP) — Absentee ballots by the thousands are going out to servicemen and hospitalized veterans who have asked to vote in the Nov. 4 general election.

The State Elections Bureau said yesterday nearly 32,000 requests for ballots have been handled here alone. Additional thousands are being mailed out by county elections bureaus. That figure is unestimated.

State draft headquarters said there are now about a quarter of a million men of voting age in the service from Pennsylvania.

Political Committee Refuses To Invite Korean Reds Here

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The United States asked the U.N. Assembly yesterday to endorse the principles for peace in Korea as laid down by the Allied command at Panmunjom. It also urged the Communists to accept an armistice on those terms.

The U.S. resolution was circulated as the 60-nation Political Committee battled down an angry request by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky to invite the Red North Koreans here for the Korean debates. The vote was 38 to 11 against the Russian proposal.

Those voting to invite the Reds were the Soviet bloc plus Pakistan, India, Indonesia, Burma, Iran and Yemen. Eight countries abstained: Chile, Bolivia, Argentina, Syria, Israel, Mexico, Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

The committee voted 54 to 5 (Soviet bloc) to invite to the table the delegation of the U. N.-sponsored Republic of Korea. Yugoslavia also abstained on this vote.

A two-hour wrangle on the invitations put off a scheduled speech by Secretary of State Dean Acheson. His staff said he planned to talk three hours on the entire Korean situation. Acheson's spokesman said the address would be a "full and frank accounting" of the Korean negotiations and would disclose facts not previously made public.

Other diplomatic sources said "very high" American and Allied officials had appeared to India to do what it could for an armistice in Korea. These sources said the appeal was made before the Assembly convened Oct. 14 and again after the session had started.

The appeal was relayed to Prime Minister Nehru in New Delhi but nothing has been heard so far.

The British announced they would co-sponsor the U. S. resolution. Other countries are expected to be listed as sponsors by 3 p.m. today when Acheson begins his speech.

Pretty American Heiress Married To Nobleman

London, (AP) — A pretty heiress to American millions, Virginia Fortune Ryan, was married yesterday to a dashing Scottish nobleman, Lord Ogilvy, in a glittering society show that thrilled austerity-weary Londoners.

Princess Margaret was there with a smile and a handshake for the 26-year-old bridegroom—a former boy friend and his radiant American bride, 19, shimmering in white satin.

Two of Margaret's other boy friends were there too—polo-playing Billy Wallace, who is still "eligible," and the Earl of Dalkeith, who is engaged to a pretty commoner, Jane McNeil.

A thousand guests, including Queen Mother Elizabeth and four other members of royalty, packed fashionable St. Margaret's Church in Parliament Square for the 45-minute ceremony.

443 Die In Storm

Miami, Fla. (AP) — The Red Cross said today that at least 443 persons were killed in Wednesday's violent typhoon and 209 more were listed as missing.

The toll was expected to go higher when communications are restored with the heavily-battered Central Philippines.

Pennsylvania GOP Increases Registration Edge To 991,283

Harrisburg, (AP) — An all-time high of 5,340,936 Pennsylvania voters are registered for the Nov. 4 election, an increase of 389,131 from the April 22 primary.

The result of intensive registration campaigns by both major political parties and numerous get-registered groups was shown yesterday by tabulation figures for the state.

The general election registration represents an increase of 326,226 from the previous all-time high of 5,014,710 in 1940.

The registration: 1952 election—Republican 3,128,773; Democrat 2,137,490, others 74,673; total 5,340,936.

1952 primary—Republican 2,824,114; Democrat 1,873,168, others 54,323; total 4,751,805.

The total represented official figures from 66 of the state's 67 counties. The tabulation is incomplete in Lackawanna County, which reported unofficial figures. Both Republican and Democratic

Stevenson Lashes Out At 'Smear'

Cleveland, (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson last night accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower of conducting a campaign "which accepts calumny and the big doubt as its instruments."

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, loosed a scathing attack on Eisenhower, his GOP opponent, and the general's vice presidential running-mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California.

Stevenson also slugged hard at Republican Sens. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin and William E. Jenner of Indiana.

In an address at the Cleveland Arena, the Illinois governor said Eisenhower must accept full responsibility for the kind of campaign being waged in his behalf.

"I resent—and I resent bitterly—the sly insinuations and the insinuations of the campaign that is being waged in behalf of the general," Stevenson declared, "and I am deeply shocked that the general would lead a so-called 'crusade' which accepts calumny and the big doubts as its instruments."

The governor rapped vigorously at Nixon for his attacks on Stevenson in connection with the case of Alger Hiss, former State Department official convicted of having lied when he denied ever having passing government documents to a courier for Russia. Nixon and McCarthy have sharply criticized Stevenson for giving a deposition at the first Hiss trial, which said that so far as Stevenson knew, Hiss' reputation was good.

In his speech last night, Stevenson said he did no more than was required of him as a part of the American judicial system, and he added:

"At no time did I testify on the issue of the guilt or innocence of Alger Hiss. As I have repeatedly said, I have never doubted the verdict of the jury which convicted him."

The governor then declared that Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles, the general's foreign affairs advisor, "both demonstrated a continued personal faith in Alger Hiss in circumstances which imposed on them—as circumstances never did on me—the obligation to make a searching examination of his character and background."

Stevenson's speech last night was described in advance by his campaign manager, Wilson W. Wyatt, as one of the most important the governor has made in his bid for the presidency. Wyatt called the address a reply to GOP "smear tactics."

Stevenson came to Cleveland after a day of barnstorming for votes in New York, Pennsylvania and other Ohio communities.

He told his Cleveland audience that Nixon and other principal speakers in Eisenhower's behalf have given the Republican campaign its distinct shape and pattern. He added:

"It is not a campaign debate, it is a systematic program of innuendo and accusation. It is aimed at sowing the seeds of doubt."

Stevenson said the Republican high command is counting heavily in the last days of the campaign on the type of attack which he denounced.

The governor said that next Monday night, for example, McCarthy "is going to make a highly-advertised speech—the man who said last week that if he were put aboard my campaign train with a club, he might be able to make a good American out of me."

McCarthy, center of controversy because of his Communist-in-government charges, has said his address at a Chicago dinner Monday night will be a "cold documentation" of Stevenson's record.

The governor said as an isolated voice, McCarthy would be unimportant.

"But he has become," Stevenson added, "more than the voice of a single individual who thinks the way to teach Americanism is with a club. He appears next Monday night on nation-wide radio and television as the planned climax of the Republican campaign—as the very voice of the Republican party that lost the nomination but won the nominee."

"You will head the voice of the senator from Wisconsin, with the permission and approval of Gen. Eisenhower."

Then Stevenson went on to say that Eisenhower "must accept full responsibility."

He said that only last week Eisenhower, "when stung by charges that he had surrendered to the Old Guard, said that the decisions in this campaign 'have been and will be mine alone.'"

Stevenson also quoted Eisenhower as saying at that time:

"This crusade which I have taken to the American people represents what I, myself, believe."

The governor then declared: "Crusade indeed."

Challenge Statement

New York, (AP) — Sixteen New York City lawyers yesterday challenged a statement by a group of nationally prominent lawyers who condemned any criticism of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for his deposition in the Hiss case.

MRS. OTTO HENNING, of 134 Sopher St., East Stroudsburg, examines a small portion of the "conversion" pieces she has accumulated over the past seven years. Her collection, conservatively numbering 1,500, dots every available corner of the three downstairs rooms. (Daily Record photo)

It Doesn't Take Long To Accumulate Hundreds Of What-Nots, East Borough Woman Learns

Some people call them what-nots. Others term them knick-knacks and still others refer to them as conversation pieces. But whatever they are—there's an abundance of them, about 1,500, at 134 Sopher St., East Stroudsburg.

That's the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Henning and Mrs. Henning has a seven-year accumulation that will hold conversation for an indefinite length of time.

The unusual collection was started in 1945 just after World War Two terminated. As a hobby, Mrs. Henning began purchasing small items for her kitchen corners and the East Stroudsburg woman soon found a definite interest in gathering the articles.

Today the list of collections reads something like the inventory of a novelty shop: One parrot, 18 birds, five goldfish, 14 clocks, numerous plants, photographs, vases, dolls of every size and description, salt and pepper shakers by the scores and countless other miniature and full-size articles that actually cover practically every space in her three downstairs rooms.

When will she halt her collection? "I guess I'd better stop now," Mrs. Henning smiled. "There's no more room downstairs for anymore, and I'm certainly not going to start storing them upstairs."

Mrs. Henning relates congenially of her numerous trips to area stores, seeking new collections. "But every place I go I find those things I already have," she was reminded.

And how does Mr. Henning feel about the collection? "Well," she said, "he claims I've got enough now. But everytime we go anywhere he'll say 'you don't have this' and I've added another piece to my large collection."

Just yesterday Mrs. Henning decided to enter a new field of interest. Her husband drove her to a Stroudsburg store where she bought five goldfish.

One might think that with over 1,500 articles all bunched in three small rooms the appearance would be congested. It is. But Mrs. Henning has so arranged every article that nothing is hidden. All are neatly placed and are polished to perfection. They hang from all four walls in every room, adorn every table and stool and line the base of the room in soldier-like fashion.

As for Peggy, the 36-year-old parrot—well, he (Peggy, being a male with an ambiguous label) doesn't mutter too many words, loves children, shakes hands and likes having his neck scratched. He leaves his kitchen cage on occasions to explore the rooms and the countless collector's items, but never is unruly. And Peggy, incidentally, is over 100 years old—based on the theory that one year of a parrot's life is equivalent to that of three for the human.

The other 18 birds situated around the three rooms comprise such species as finches, parakeets (three-birds) and canaries. The 14 clocks are the pendulum-swinging type, with emphasis on appearance and size.

One of the smallest articles in the maze of items is a half-inch high hand-painted vase. Probably the largest is the "piggy-bank" standing a foot high and about two feet long.

Articles have been gathered from Japan, Mexico, Italy and all part of the United States. Mrs. Henning's neighbors generally remember her collection while on vacation, and return home with an oddity.

Mr. Henning, a painter by trade, is an ardent mimrod. And one visible article in the overflowing collection belongs to him—a deer-head, mounted and placed on the wall amid the abundance of conversation pieces, knick-knacks and what-nots. How he acquired the space was not learned but it's too to one it'll stay there. But Mrs. Henning's amazing collection is a remarkable display, to say the least.

St. Paul's To Observe Anniversary

Kresgeville — The 65th anniversary of St. Paul's Lutheran Church here will be observed Sunday at special services at 2 p. m.

Speaker for the occasion will be the Rev. Celo V. Leitzel, an instructor in religious education at the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia. Rev. James K. Laubach, pastor, will assist in the service.

St. Paul's Church was organized under the leadership of the Rev. A. M. Strauss on May 30, 1887 by members connected at that time with Salem Church, Gilbert, and Jerusalem Church, Trachsville. The cornerstone was laid Sept. 4, 1887 and the building was dedicated June 10, 1888.

First officers of the church, elected Aug. 27, 1887, were James Kunkle and Ludwig Wuest, elders; Jerome Serfass, John H. Kunkle, Joseph Meekes and E. P. Kresge, deacons; Cornelius Smith and F. P. Kresge, trustees; John Kunkle, secretary and James Kunkle, treasurer.

Rev. Laubach was assigned as pastor in 1950. He was preceded by the Rev. H. W. Tobaben, 1942-1950; Rev. R. R. Hartzell, 1936-1942; Rev. E. T. Angstadt, 1929-1936; Rev. O. F. Ertwein, 1916-1928; Rev. William Euehler, 1911-1915; Rev. S. M. Wenrich, 1909-1910; Rev. A. C. Wuchter, 1893-1909; Rev. S. B. Stupp, 1889-1892 and the original pastor, Rev. Strauss.

St. Paul's is one of four Lutheran churches in Rev. Laubach's Pleasant Valley parish. The other

Student Of Democracy

Yesterday Miss Myrtle Bonser, a farm girl student at Chestnut Hill Township high school residing at McMichael's, received a reward of a $500 savings bond for winning first prize in a state-wide essay contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Retailers Association in conjunction with Pennsylvania Week.

This daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bonser was husking corn on her parents' farm when she received the news that her essay had been selected the best in competition with high school students throughout the entire state.

Frank Burnside, Wilkes-Barre, president of the state retailers association and Ernest H. Wyckoff, Stroudsburg, a director of the association, combined to honor the young high school senior yesterday at an impressive public assembly.

They, like all of us who have read Miss Bonser's essay on the subject "How Pennsylvania Schools Are Helping to Defend Freedom," found that its great impact is centered in utter simplicity of language and reasoning. The concluding paragraph graphically illustrates what we mean:

"This, then, is my firm conviction. When one lives freedom, he learns to love it; and when one loves a thing, he is certain to defend it in his every thought and act of his day. That is why I say the biggest contribution the schools of Pennsylvania make to the cause of freedom is the freedom in which our schools allow pupils to live."

Far more important than the $500 savings bond is this type of reasoning by a young girl in her senior year of a high school in the world's greatest democracy. It is important because of the period in which it was written—a time of major stresses from a terrible foe of everything this young woman conceives to be important to her life under a democracy's public school system.

Our congratulations to Miss Bonser, and highest commendation to her parents, the school administrators and teachers who have given her the guidance and example so necessary to the production of this example of high citizenship.

Father of Canning

The dexterity with which we open a can of beans or lift the top off a glass of jelly, or a bottle of our favorite soft drink makes us usually unappreciative of the fact that it is only in comparatively recent years that civilization has had the benefit of preserved foods and beverages.

The Father of Canning was none other than Nicolas Appert, an obscure French chef, baker, confectioner and brewer, who spent much of his lifetime, 1752 to 1811, in pursuit of better ways to appeal to the appetite and to further the cause of nutrition.

Today, thousands of items from golf balls to battle-ships are "canned" through protection from the outer elements in addition to footstuffs, all benefitting from the discovery of Chef Appert.

It is entirely proper that this week the National Canners Association presented an engraved scroll to the French embassy in Washington, expressing the world's debt to the Father of Canning. The scroll will be sent to the village of Massy, a suburb of Paris, where Mr. Appert lived, conducted his experiments and died.

Campaign Novelties: During the GOP Convention a Chicago policeman named Lou Sweeney was detailed to Ike. After his nomination, the General told Lou: "I want you along on my campaign tour. You will be secretary in charge of security."

"But General," protested Sweeney, "I'm a Democrat!"

"I don't care what you are," last-words Ike. "You're the best man for the job."

Sweeney is an American of Jewish faith.

That anecdote came from publicist Dorothy Gorman, who adds: "I am personally for Governor Stevenson (with all my mind and heart) but I feel this hitherto untold story about Gen. Eisenhower should be made public."

Darling, ain't it wonderful to be an American?

"Politicians are funny," says Robert Q. Lewis. "They start to build a platform, then hope it'll turn out to be a springboard."

From an old WW editorial: "Politics is the dirtiest of the professions. It's the only one in the world in which decent men step all over their best friends' faces to climb."

Truman's slanders against Ike are making good copy for the front pages but the General's record will make the history books.

"Truman to speak in B'klyn." Haven't they enough troubles?

"Dear Mr. Winchell," passionately memos John Chapman of W. 42nd Street, "It was not Wilson Mizner but Dave Clark (one of Joe Cook's screwballs) who said: 'It's a great show. Don't miss it if you can.'"

It was Dave who also invented this motto which John and Walter often steal: "I may be wrong but I'm not far from it!"

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Above the little story which I am going to tell you—I read it in a morning paper—is an old story—taking up almost a whole column—telling us that London will not divulge her latest atom secret to us unless we give her more of ours.

Other stories on the same page tell about a man killed in a tractor accident, about a Texas gambler being indicted, and about two intelligence agents being failed for contempt.

But it gave me a lift—a tremendous lift.

Because it proves that there are still some people with love, with sentiment, with faith in this world.

And because the principal character of the story is just an average guy—there must be millions more like him, millions just as good, just as fine, just as decent at Logan Road of Savannah.

There is a restaurant in Savannah where Logan and Mary Roe did their courting.

It is a nice restaurant, with plenty of atmosphere. It's sort of dark and romantic, with candles on the table and all that sort of thing.

The day they got married they had their wedding dinner in that same restaurant.

But a few months later Mary Roe died, a victim of cancer.

Logan Roe, a merchant mariner, applied for sea duty.

Recently he telephoned the Savannah restaurant from New York.

He had just mailed a five dollar bill to them. They'd get it in a day or two.

He was assigned to a transport, he said, that would put out to sea in the morning.

But that Saturday was to be their wedding anniversary—Mary's and his.

Would they please reserve their old table for them for that night?

The five dollar bill would cover the expenses, wouldn't it?

That Saturday night their table was reserved and the candles were lighted.

The proprietor drank a silent toast to Mary and Logan—wherever they might be that night.

The five dollar bill which Logan sent was given to the church of which both were members.

There isn't much to this story in these times of world upheaval. Just a little human oddity.

Yet, I wonder whether it is not more significant than all the headlines about which we worry so much.

I certainly like it better. I hope you will.

Here is another toast to Logan Roe and to his Mary, wherever they may be

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

Trumanism is not a movement in this country. It has no broad base among the people. It is a state of mind, a reflex to a habit of partisan loyalty. It is a broadening of what we, who live in New York, know as the attitude of Tammany Hall that the party comes first, above city, state and country. It is a renunciation of every moral quality in favor of partisanship.

When applied on the ward level, this attitude wins a measure of approval, just as the gang spirit does, because personal loyalty is a commendable quality. When applied to national affairs, it thus into a reprehensible quality because it subordinates the nation to the party, the common good to the necessities of pats and cronies.

The President of the United States is a Constitutional officer responsible to and for the people, those of his party as well as those of the opposition party and of no party whatsoever. Unlike the British Prime Minister, he does not speak for his party but for the nation. Unlike Stalin, he does not represent a class but performs tasks designated by the Constitution or delegated to him by Congress.

Few Presidents have used this high office strictly for partisan purposes and none with the vindictive tenacity of Harry Truman. He has rejected every criticism of events as a personal affront. Incapable of self-examination, he has rejected examination by Congress, by the press, by the people as an indignity.

For instance, his reference to the Alger Hiss case as a "red herring" was not a defense of Hiss but a normal reaction to any discovery of administrative error. His hatred for Senators McCarthy, McCarran, Jenner, Revercomb, Cain and his constant attack on Senator Taft are not due as much to a vast difference over policies as to a refusal to recognize that anything can be right which originates among those who oppose him.

He lives not in a world of principles and ideas but in a world peopled by those who are his friends and those who are his enemies. It is impossible for him to believe that one may like him personally, as Senator Taft does, and oppose him on measures for the country. His violence against General Eisenhower is due to the fact that Eisenhower was associated with him and no longer chooses to be. He offered Eisenhower the Presidency; to him it is galling that one so honored should have chosen to go his own way.

Despite the peril of Communist infiltration admitted by both the FBI and the CIA, he has refused aid to the committees of Congress investigating the subject, not because he is even remotely pro-Communist but because the investigations did not originate with him. Out of loyalty to Dean Acheson, he preferred the Tydings Committee whitewash to the McCarran Committee probe. He has stood by the corruptionists in his Administration as long as he could, not because he is corrupt or because he likes corruption but because they are of his party and his clique within the party. If corruptionists are discovered, he must do it—not Congress, nor the press, nor organs of the people. He must do it because only he can ease them out of government without tarnishing his party.

Truman is not a candidate for office; yet, he has interjected himself into the campaign, making speeches of vilification, introducing false issues, damaging national unity—because he must lead the party, he must win the victory if it is to be won. He has even split his own party and imperiled Stevenson's chances of success, because his judgment on every question must prevail.

That is Trumanism and it has developed into a dangerous egotism. No man can be so vituperative, so vindictive, so hating, so self-centered without bringing the evil of his disunity to this nation. Surely his message to the Jewish Welfare Board, his charge that important Americans, including Eisenhower, are anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic, is the lowest point in American politics and it is to be expected that Adlai Stevenson, a gentleman bred, will repudiate such boorishness.

Does not Harry Truman know that Pat McCarran is a Roman Catholic whose family is devoted to his church? Does he not know that McCarran's daughter is a nun? Does he really believe Pat McCarran is anti-Catholic?

Old Pop Diggins had talked about a trip out West for twenty years, and now his dream was about to be realized. "One week from today," he exulted to his cronies at the General Store, "I'll be plumb in the middle of that there Yellowstone Park!" One of them cackled, "Don't forget Old Faithful." "I won't," promised Pop Diggins. "I'm taking her with me."

There's a man in Hollywood who is a great picture producer, but a child when it comes to high finance. His safe deposit box is the repository for just about every worthless old stock floated in California. One day an acquaintance tried to sell him a whole gold mine at a "bargain" price. The producer promised to think it over and said "I'll call you." He did, too—about three days later—and declared, "I've decided to buy that gold mine." "You're too late," answered the sharper bitterly. "I'm already in jail."

Hollywood—Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh, husband and wife, are co-stars in "Houdini." And what are the toughest scenes for them? The love scenes.

So testifies Tony. He explains if this way: Close-ups of two often require one player to "cheat" a little; that is, turn his nose a little nearer the camera to give a fuller view of his profile. With somebody you feel no real emotion for, it's easy. But when you're in love, your tendency is to forget the camera angle and just look into each other's eyes.

Tony and Janet have several love scenes in the picture, Tony confirmed. "Oh, yeah, we're neckin' all through it."

I asked Producer George Pal if having a married couple as stars had led to domestic quarrels over scene-stealing. "Just the opposite," Pal claimed; "they are love-dovies all the time!"

Ray Milland said his 21st wedding anniversary was that very day, but he still hadn't bought his wife a present. "Taking her out to dinner tonight," he said. "This is the one time of the year I dance."

Those Ruling-Circle Spies

Mr. Andrei Vishinsky:

"The ruling circles of the United States have pinned their hopes on subversive espionage and terrorist activities against the Soviet Union," you have just declared before the U.N. Well, Andrei, I suppose it was bound to leak out . . . American spies and terrorists pouring into Russia every hour on the hour! We could not hope to keep secret this constant penetration of the U. S. S. R. by Americans. It wasn't so risky when the ruling circles sent in only a few hundred spies a week, but since they began arriving in Moscow by plane, boat, sedan, motorcycle, sea sled, kite and bus, the Kremlin was bound to notice it, I guess.

Go to any American dock, airport or railroad terminal these days and what do you see? A flock of ruling circles kissing their wives good-bye and waving to friends as they climb into their false whiskers and start infiltrating into Russia with a hey nonny Andrei and a hot cha-cha. Some of my best friends are ruling-circle boys and it's awful the way they are making a hobby of infiltrating Russia. It is hard to find one at the office in Wall Street where almost every door bears a sign, "Out to Russia. Return Later." Ask a man to dinner and what do you get? A note saying, "Sorry, but this is my terroristic night in Moscow."

Every ruling-circle boy and girl the earth. And after that a movie about ants. Pal specializes in weirdies like "Destination Moon" and "When Worlds Collide."

Lucille Ball says the writers of her and Desi's TV show were delighted when she announced she was expecting. Gave them something to write about. "They said, 'Thank you very much. What are you going to come up with next year?'" For once Lucy had no answer . . .

A salute to Esther Williams for her help to that nursery school for blind children. Her interest started when she appeared in a style-show benefit for the school some three years ago. Since then she has taught a group of blind youngsters to swim, taught their teachers how to teach them to swim—and helped raise thousands to enlarge facilities.

Massedog has broken off relations with England and is not on crying terms with it any more . . . It sounds as if Harry Truman will accept nothing from General Eisenhower but unconditional surrender of the right to aspire to high office . . . On his New England trip he played the piano after a couple of speeches . . . We hear it went pretty hard with folks whose request number included the "Call Me Madam" song hit "They Like Ike" . . . Whiskey Sour won a race at $47.30 the other day . . .

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, Oct. 23—The excuse given in 1948 for not kicking Communists out of the United Nations was that such an in-delicacy would embarrass the U.S.A. in its relations with the Soviet Union.

There was no question but that the UN was loaded with Reds at that time. Robert C. Alexander, a State Department patriot, who couldn't stand watching Soviet agents cross our borders any longer, sent the names of over 100 Reds on the UN payroll to a committee of the Senate.

Both Gen. George C. Marshall and Secretary of State Dean Acheson were proving around the State Department at the time. When they found out what Alexander had done, they clawed the wailing wall with invective, and publicly ordered him to admit he was wrong.

To the everlasting benefit of the nation, Alexander refused. He almost lost his job because of his patriotism. And the Communists once again had the satisfaction of receiving an apology from the State Department.

Either Marshall or Acheson appointed a citizens committee of three individuals, including a Washington newspaper publisher, who were supposed to investigate Alexander's charges. That they were hand-picked goes without saying, and they dutifully reported to their peers in the State Department that Alexander was talking through his hat. The only investigation they made, of course, was to read the State Department's denials.

All three ought to publicly apologize to Alexander now. They took the weight of their prominence as citizens to crack down on a loyal government employee, just so that Marshall and Acheson could play patting-pat with their Russian counterparts once again.

Alexander said there were over 100 Soviet agents and sympathizers in the UN in 1948. There were and most of them are still there today. He named names, and the McCarran International Security Subcommittee is busy dredging them out of the UN at present. Most of them are ducking the $64 question, naturally, but that hardly upholds Marshall and Acheson.

The housecleaning of the UN is only four years late and God knows what the Moscow errand boys have done in us between the time Alexander tagged them and today. It can't have been anything helpful, that's for sure.

No animal in the world of equal size is more powerful than the black bear of the United States.

Jack Gelinas Heads Juniors At Boston U.

Jack G. Gelinas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gelinas, 189 Ananias St., East Stroudsburg, has been elected president of the junior class at Boston University, it was learned here yesterday.

Active in college affairs, he also held the presidency of the freshman class at Keystone Junior College, LaPlume, and at Boston is a staffer of the college newspaper, member of the Alpha Delta Sigma (professional national advertising fraternity) and member of the University Glee Club.

By winning the election Gelinas has become president of the public relations, journalism, theater and radio-television divisions of the university. He currently is a second semester student in the school of public relations and communications, studying for a degree in public relations.

Fire Occurs In Kitchen Of Hotel

Flaming grease in a broiler in the Penn-Stroud kitchen last night resulted in an alarm to the Stroudsburg Fire Department.

The grease ignited about 8:45 p. m.

The fire company ran one truck into the Penn-Stroud garage on Seventh St. A hand extinguisher was rushed to the kitchen.

The flames already were under control, but the hand extinguisher was used to spray the inside of the broiler. Firemen then checked on the hotel roof to make sure no stray sparks had gone up the vent chimney and stayed on the roof.

The blaze caused no damage.

Exterior Of Court House To Be Painted

Commissioners yesterday decided to advertise for bids for a complete paint job for the outside of the Court House.

The plans and specification will be made up by Rinker and Keifer, according to Chief Clerk Harry Taylor.

Taylor also was instructed to obtain prices on new drapes for the No. 2 courtroom in the Court House.

George Murphy, Hawley Native, Dies In Capital

Washington (AP)—George W. Murphy, 59, attorney and legislative counsel to Rep. St. George (R-NY) died yesterday.

Murphy, a native of Hawley, Pa., had been associated with Mrs. St. George during her three terms in the House. Arrangements for the funeral, to be held in Hawley, are incomplete pending the possible return from Europe of a daughter, Ada E., a lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps.

Other survivors include the widow, two daughters, Mrs. Nan Elder, of Chicago, and Harriet; and one son, George W. Jr.

Murphy had twice been an unsuccessful Republican candidate for the House from Pennsylvania. He was a former Northern Pennsylvania district commander of the American Legion and was also a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans.

B'nai B'rith To Dedicate New Building

The new Penn State B'nai B'rith Hill Foundation building will be dedicated Sunday, Nov. 9, at Penn State College with featured speakers to appear on the program, Albert M. Cohen, of Philadelphia, president of the Building Fund Corp., announced yesterday.

Sol Rothstein, of N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg, will represent Stroudsburg Lodge, 1299, at the ceremony.

The new building is the first of its type to be constructed in B'nai B'rith District No. 3, which comprises states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and West Virginia. Provided in the structure are synagogue, auditorium, social, cultural and educational facilities for the more than 1,300 Jewish students participating in the diversified Hill program at the college.

Participating in the dedicatory program will be speakers representing the college administration, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, B'nai B'rith Hill Foundation and men's and women's units of the organization in District 3.

Rabbi Benjamin Kahn, director of the Penn State Hill Foundation, has charge of arrangements for caring for the many visitors expected.

Hamilton PTA Meets Tuesday

Kellersville — Hamilton Township Parent Teacher Association will convene at the school here Tuesday at 8 p. m., it was announced last night by Verdon Frailey, president.

Schools included in the PTA group are Snyder'sville, Kellersville, Sciota, Saylorsburg, Center, Bell, Polk Valley and Beaver Valley. Parents of children enrolled in those schools are urged to attend.

President Frailey has disclosed a new heating system at the school recently was installed and emphasized the meeting dates. This season, the fourth Tuesday of each month, were decided to accommodate members. Recognition will be given the school with the largest attendance.

Norman A. Wangman, Hotel Proprietor, Dies At 58; Had Been Ailing For Year

Norman A. Wangman, 58, proprietor of the Indian Queen Hotel, Stroudsburg, died at the Monroe County General Hospital at 8 p. m. yesterday after having been in failing health for about a year and practically bedfast since the first of July.

A native of Rochester, N. Y., Mr. Wangman was affiliated in the hotel business virtually his entire adult life. He came to Stroudsburg from Liberty, N. Y., taking over the management of the Indian Queen Hotel then operated by the Grenable Hotel Co., of Harrisburg. He filled his position at the hotel for a year and then for 18 months he assumed other activities, including operation of the Lily Pond Lodge, Saylorsburg. He took over the proprietorship of the Indian Queen August 1 of this year.

W.B. Freeland, 82, Dies In Price Twp.

Walter Benson Freeland, 82, died at his Price Township home at 11 a. m. yesterday.

He was the husband of the late Florence Heckness Freeland. He had been in failing health several years. He was a former resident of Jenkintown, Pa., and had lived in the Snow Hill section for the past six years.

He was a stamp and book collector.

Surviving is a son, Alfred W. Canadensis; a sister, Miss Claudia Freeland, Philadelphia, and two grandchildren.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Saturday at Lanterman funeral home, East Stroudsburg, with Rev. Claude Heilenman officiating. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

Friends may call at the funeral home between 7 and 9 tonight.

Grace Church October Fair In November

J. F. Veiters, general chairman of the annual bazaar of Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, which will be held on Thursday and Friday nights, November 6 and 7 in the social rooms of the Parish House, outlined plans for the party.

In past years the social occasion was known as the "October Fair" but a change in scheduled dates has moved it to the month of November.

Every auxiliary and organization within the parish will participate. A large representation was present last Monday night from the decoration and construction committee.

The bazaar will open at five o'clock on each night. A restaurant will be sponsored by the Women's Guild and will provide suppers for all those attending. Baked goods, candies, peanuts, and all varieties of refreshments will also be sold. Booths will be placed around the social rooms featuring needlework, handkerchiefs, parcel post items, surprise gifts, white elephants, stationery, Mrs. Wiggins' "Cabbage Patch", fancy work and many other items. Special entertainment will be featured each night.

The object of this annual bazaar is to provide an atmosphere of fellowship within the church for the entire membership. Proceeds, expected to exceed $1000, will be used by the vestry for benevolent causes of the church.

Citizenship Duties Stressed For Churchwomen

The responsibility of church women in politics was the theme of the talk given by Mrs. E. S. Rosenberry, of Stone Church, at the Zion Reformed Church this week when the Women's Guild of the church entertained the guilds from the Reformed churches in Tannersville and Gilbert.

Primary responsibility of each person is to vote, she urged. Mrs. Rosenberry, regional citizenship chairman, was introduced by Mrs. Fred Quig, local citizenship chairman.

Miss Helen Shick was in charge of the devotion. A girls' trio, composed of Mrs. Mel Dunn, Miss Sue Warner and Miss Barbara Truane, sang several numbers. Mrs. Hugh Altomose presided at the business session when the guild voted to donate $25 to the redecoration of the church entrance. They will also list their meeting date in the hospital calendar. Reports were made of the recent successful bake sale.

Following the program, Mrs. Donald Gilpin supervised the selection of partners for the refreshments which followed in the dining room. Mrs. Dayton Frankel, Mrs. Frank Blatt and Mrs. Altomose presided at the tea table, decorated for Halloween. Mrs. P. P. Marsh and Mrs. Helen Keller were captains of the hostess teams.

Three Birthdays At Doney Home

Brooksideville—A surprise birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Doney on Saturday, October 18, for Edward Doney, Mrs. Shoemaker, of Hamilton Square, and Mrs. Henry C. Hoffman also celebrated their birthdays at the same time. They all received gifts.

The following were at the party: Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kretzing, Miss Clara Kretzing, Mrs. Edith Shoemaker, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shoemaker, of Saylorsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Doney and daughter Rebecca and son Carl, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Hoffman and sons, Charles and Lee.

Sharon Jane Wallingford

First Birthday Marked By Party At Wallingford's

Appenzell—Little Sharon Jane Wallingford celebrated her first birthday at her home on Wednesday. A few little guests were present to help her celebrate. They gathered around a table which was decorated with a birthday cake, ice cream and candy. The favors were red balloons.

The guests were Leah Paul, Linda Paul, Margaret Ann Butz, David Wallingford and Jimmy Lane Wallingford. Adult guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wallingford, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Wallingford, Mrs. Herman Paul, Mrs. Morgan Butz, Miss Marie Paul, Mrs. Roy Paul, James Butz, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Wallingford and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wallingford.

Movies were taken of the antics of the children. Sharon received many gifts.

$500 Bond Presented To Winner Of Essay Contest

Brooksideville — Of 126,000 Pennsylvania students who talked of freedom, a Chestnut Hill girl proved the most articulate.

Because of those words written neatly in ink on blue-lined loose-leaf paper, Myrtle Bonser yesterday was handed the State's top award in the contest—a $500 defense bond.

Myrtle Bonser wrote her first prize essay in two hours. Winning the contest "surprised" her. But the win hasn't changed any plans. She doesn't intend to go to college. High school graduation next June will end her formal education.

The presenting of the bond was probably the high spot in the special assembly held to honor the farm girl.

It was handed to the girl by Ernest Wyckoff, a Stroudsburg department store executive and member of the Pennsylvania Retailers Association which sponsored the contest.

Before that, however, Myrtle stood alone on the stage in front of her classmates and the few solemn adults who stuck up like dark-clad islands in the sea of bright youngsters.

In a firm, rather rapid voice, she read the words which put Chestnut Hill High School ahead of 1,200 other high schools entered in the competition.

It began with the title of all essays submitted: How Pennsylvania Schools Are Helping to Defend Freedom.

"The biggest contribution that the schools of Pennsylvania are making to the cause of freedom lies in the manner in which the schools of Pennsylvania are conducted..." Myrtle Bonser started.

She read on, stumbling a bit, but for the most part calm and unflustered.

Her words were not aphoristic literary gems. They were closer to being a clear-cut expression of what seemed to be a deep belief—even a profound belief—about freedom.

Freedom has many faces. One look of it lay in the room itself as Myrtle Bonser read. The room was a gym. At the rear was a basketball hoop and hoop for basketball.

Here the students had learned freedom from their sports... developed the American feel for cooperation and mutual action... learned that each may compete to the best of his ability if he chooses—and from the competitors the best will be chosen.

Another look of it lay on the stage itself. At the rear was furniture. False doors at the wings. High above, the curtains for painted sets. Here, free young minds with visions of acting, swayed through their try-outs and later played their piece before an assembly of adults and classmates gathered freely and not because they were ordered to be present.

Yet another look of freedom lay in the bright flash of colors in the clothing of several hundred students. In all the group no two dresses were quite alike. Reds, yellows, whites, vermillions, oranges, blues, purples, grays, pleats and jumpers, cotton dresses and wool skirt-sweater combinations. Each wearing what he chose to wear, was free to buy, to express what he wished to express in himself. Even the teachers scattered among the folding chairs were no uniforms and likely were no more uniform in thought.

"Regimentation of thought or action is unknown in our school..." continued the girl on the stage.

It was evident in the group before her. Most listened with interest, but others whispered, giggled or fidgeted. There was no evidence in any of the faces, of that distorted regimentation which stamps young people into the conforming mold of fear.

The afternoon sun poured in the long windows, lay on the scuffed gym floor. "This then, is my firm conviction. When one lives freedom, he learns to love it; and when one loves it, he is certain to defend it in his every thought and act of his day..." Myrtle Bonser wound up.

The truth in her words was plain enough, to an American. In the big, dusty gymnasium, a down-to-earth defense of freedom was plain enough too. Not expressed, perhaps, but there by implication.

It was in the words of the county education officials who rose to praise Myrtle. It lay in the commendation of Frank Burnside, Wilkes-Barre, president of the retailers association which, outside the U.S., might be termed a "capitalistic warmongering group" but which put its time and money toward encouraging youngsters to crystallize their thoughts about a heritage of freedom.

When Myrtle was finished talking, when the bond had been presented, when the speeches of praise and encouragement had been made by adults, Supervising Principal John C. Mills gave the signal; the band tooted earnestly while the youngsters filed out to their homerooms, out to the schoolyard and the waiting buses, out to the free sky and earth which were, indirectly, responsible for Myrtle Bonser's words.

Bond Sales Increase In September

E. H. Wyckoff, chairman of the Defense Bonds Advisory Committee of Monroe County, yesterday reported a further increase in the purchases of the U. S. defense bonds had been shown for September.

The total sales in Pennsylvania of $27,741,649 show that payroll savings plan for buying bonds in the state continues to gain, Mr. Wyckoff said.

Purchases of E and H bonds for September, 1952, show an increase of 13% over series E bonds for the same month last year and are 25% ahead of August, 1952. Employees in Monroe County recently reviewed the payroll savings plan and are adding new participants by bringing the plan to the attention of employees.

The total sales of Series E, H, J and K in Monroe County for September, 1952, were $32,853. In

Tannersville Garage Sold; Voice Teacher Opens Studio

By James B. Gaffney

New businesses are making their debut almost daily in Monroe County's environs, indicating the potentialities for development of the Pocono Mountains region.

The economic effect on this section is potent because of the influx of new business and the transfer of others.

James B. Gaffney

Two such endeavors were started here only recently and are destined to aid stability.

Today the transfer of a Tannersville garage is expected to be consummated and two weeks ago a voice teacher opened offices in Stroudsburg to add to the line of professional services being offered in Monroe County.

The garage is that of the Metzger brothers, Edward and Thomas. Two businessmen operating the State Belt Buick Co. in Bangor are now partners in the garage which will be known as Gray's Chevrolet Garage.

Louis A. Gray and his brother-in-law, Robert Schultz, of Bangor, are the new owners, with the former slated to operate the agency.

Schultz probably is best remembered by local residents as "Big Bob" since he hurried for the Poconos in Class "D" baseball here for three years. Since leaving the diamond wars Bob and his brother-in-law entered the automotive field in Bangor and have operated the Buick agency for almost three years.

Gray formerly held the International Harvester Co. franchise in Belvidere, N.J., before going to Bangor and contemplates installing a showroom at the Tannersville garage. Other renovations are expected in the near future, including a modernization of the front section. Gray will supervise the Tannersville station seven days a week, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., with no repair work scheduled for Sundays.

Five persons are employed at the Tannersville garage and Edward Metzger will remain as shop foreman, Schultz said. Metzger's brother, Tom is expected to retire from business.

The other new business is a voice studio at 517 Main St., Stroudsburg. Under the tutelage of Richard A. Finley the studio will concentrate on "building" both singing and diction voices.

Finley, the father of 12 children, one of whom was killed on his fourth combat flight over Germany during World War Two, has 20 years experience behind him as he enters business here. He formerly taught in Philadelphia and Wilmington, Del., with many pupils skyrocketing to prominence in the fields of radio, television, concert, church and operatic work after instructions under Finley.

Mr. and Mrs. Finley reside with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson S. McIntyre, East Stroudsburg RD. 1.

The voice teacher stresses the Italian method, and termed diction as a by-product of vocal instructions, since they are correlated. He studied for seven years with the late W. Warren Shaw, renowned vocal teacher in both New York and Philadelphia.

Finley describes Mario Lanza as "the greatest natural voice in America today."

J. Paul Hart, manager of the Citizens Gas Co. and Bangor and Pen Argyl Gas Companies, leaves early next week for Atlantic City.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . .

Dragging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent urinations. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 million kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Playschool Coop Parents In Meeting

Working committees for the year ahead were named by Mrs. Roger Woltjen, president of the Pocono Playschool Cooperative, at the first general meeting, held Tuesday night at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church, and general plans were made for the year ahead.

The cooperative decided that if enough mothers were interested, the playschool might be kept open until 4 o'clock each day for the benefit of working mothers. Anyone interested may call Mrs. Woltjen at Stroudsburg 1038-M.

Displayed at the meeting was the new Pocono Playschool Cooperative license which has just been received from the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg.

Mrs. Woltjen introduced the officers: Mrs. Harry Walz, first vice president; Mrs. Charles McMahon, second vice president; Mrs. Lester Katz, recording secretary; Mrs. Alfred Freeland, corresponding secretary; and Morgan Hebard, treasurer.

Also introduced were the teachers at the playschool, Mrs. William Thomas and Mrs. Clifford Lambert, and Roger Dunning, elementary supervisor of the Stroudsburg schools, who is educational advisor of the coop.

The following appointments were announced: Transportation, Mrs. Morton Barrow, publicity, Mrs. Edward Driebe, chairman; Mrs. Roderick Hummel, Mrs. Donald R. Holmgren, Mrs. E. H. Bush, Hospitality, Mrs. R. G. Zellers, chairman; Mrs. Russell Earlight, Mrs. Ernest Farmer and Mrs. Block, Educational, Mrs. Charles McMahon, chairman; Mrs. Martin Ellsweig, Alfred Freeland, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heffner and Mrs. Lester Katz, Activities, Mrs. Edward Katz, chairman; Mrs. Ted Cahn, Mrs. Gilbert Zager, Mrs. Jerome Jacobs and Mrs. William Karshner, Housekeeping, Mrs. Harry Walz, chairman; Mrs. Richard Kuklentz, Roderick Hummel, and Mrs. Edward Wolljoug.

Nominating, Mrs. Neil Josephson, chairman; Mrs. Harry Walz and Mrs. Roger Woltjen.

Alfred Freeland was elected to succeed Mrs. Woltjen as president after the first of January, when she is moving from the community.

November 18 was set as the date of the next meeting when a speaker will be presented. Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. G. Zellers, Mrs. Block and Mrs. Richard Kuklentz.

—By Bobby Westbrook

If we were living in England, this weather we are having would be "little summer of St. Luke," but since we live where we do, it's Indian Summer, and pleasant time it is, too.

The dictionary says it's a period of mild weather in late autumn with clear, blue skies and hazy atmosphere at the horizon, but they don't even guess where the name came from. I've always sort of connected it in my mind with "Indian river," a gift freely given, but which you're expected to return on demand.

Indian Summer is a gift that it's heartbreaking to relinquish. Especially with the woolly bears and the early flights of geese and the other weather prophets all foretelling an early, long and cold winter ahead.

You can't hold on to Indian Summer. One moment it's all about you. There's the smell of burning leaves, which always somehow reminds me of sun-warmed apples. There's a softness in the air. There's a small new wild flower blooming in the grass.

And the next moment, the sun goes under a cloud, and it's vanished. The light has gone from the trees, the flower shrinks to nothingness, and there's the smell of frost biting your nose. Indian first indeed.

Miss Merring Is Bride Of John Stetler

Miss Edna Mae Merring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin B. Merring of 40 North Green Street, East Stroudsburg, became the bride of John Joseph Stetler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Stetler, Stokes Mill, at 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday before the candle-lit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

The quiet and impressive double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace Church minister, in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride was attired in a black-figured ballerina-length tulle dress with white background, black accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage. Miss Lillian Stetler, sister of the bridegroom, was maid-of-honor. She wore a navy-blue wool suit with brown accessories and a white carnation corsage. William Fritz served as best man.

During the wedding prayers the bride couple knelt before the altar on a white satin pillow.

The bridegroom attended the East Stroudsburg High School and is employed at the International Boiler Works. The bride was graduated from the East Stroudsburg High School with the class of 1952 and is employed at the Bell Telephone Company. The newlyweds will make their residence in an apartment at Stokes Mill.

Mr. Stetler served for 13 months with the U. S. Navy in World War II and he expects to be recalled within the near future for active duty.

Primary Class Is Entertained By Teacher

The Primary class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Tannersville, held a Halloween party on October 17 at the home of Mrs. Donald Rowe, in Redders, given by their teacher, Miss Nina Warner. The children came masked and visited neighboring houses before returning for games and refreshments. Mrs. Doris Merring assisted. Miss Warner at the party. Those present were: Patricia Hay, Jane Wenton, Billy Wenton, Billy Newhart, Chris Merck, Kathryn Dodd, Kathryn Walters, Wayne Mazur, Marion Law, Margaret Law, Johnny Woodling and Mary Lou Montgomery.

Homecoming Shared By All Ages

Cherry Lane—The Cherry Lane Methodist Church was comfortably filled on Sunday afternoon for the annual Homecoming Service. The Sunday school children, after the morning session, had gone into the nearby woods for branches of foliage, with which they decorated the interior. Mrs. Mabel Henry and others brought flowers to augment the decorations.

At the opening of the service, the members of the girls' choir, in the new blue and white gowns which they had purchased with money earned by their own efforts and made themselves, entered from the rear of the church and took their seats facing the congregation.

They included Mrs. Emory Shaffer, their leader, Eleanor Sebring, Alberta Getz, Evelyn Kane, Janet Shaffer, Jane Sebring, Nancy Shaffer, Roberta Bush, Miss Grace Brink, also groomed, was the pianist.

Rev. Ralph H. Feltham, the pastor, conducted most of the service, calling on Charles Sebring, one of the oldest members of the church present, to lead in prayer. Special music included selections by the choir, duets by Jane Sebring and Grace Brink, also duets by Miss Elaine Pappilon and Mrs. Laura Marsh, accompanied by Mrs. Hazen on the piano and solo vox.

The guest speaker was Rev. Roy Barnard of the Tannersville Methodist charge.

Many of the visitors at the service included former residents of Cherry Lane, including members of the Williams, Cramer, Sebring, and Mader families, all of whom, at the close of the service, enjoyed renewing old ties.

Installation Marks Meeting Of Rebekahs

Saylorsburg—Miss Edith Young was installed as Noble Grand of Seila Rebecca Lodge #22, Friday night by Mrs. Nellie Miller, District Deputy, and her staff of installing officers from the Rachel-Broadhead Lodge of Stroudsburg, at the district meeting held at Seila.

Inside guard, Mrs. LeVina Hoffman; outside guard, Mrs. Eva Snyder; secretary, Mrs. Ethyl Binkler; financial secretary, Miss Vera Fenner; treasurer, Mrs. Ada Feller; trustee, Mrs. Florence Post.

Visitors were present from Effort, Tannersville and Stroudsburg lodges, as well as Pike County. State President Mrs. Maude Ewing, State Secretary Mrs. Lois Elmore, and State Marshall Mrs. Florence Rice were present. During the social hour, refreshments were served.

Auxiliary Sees Film On Brazil Missions

The Women's Auxiliary of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church and their guests on Wednesday night saw a motion picture on Brazil, and some of the work which one of their own numbers is doing there at their meeting at the church.

Mrs. A. A. Holbrook, secretary of missionary education, told something of the background of Brazil, where Rev. and Mrs. James Wright are now stationed and showed "Wings to the Word," a story of the flying missionaries in Brazil.

Mrs. Paul Dellaria presided at the business meeting and reported on the Presbyterian meeting which she and Mrs. Douglas Barlight, Mrs. Walter Schlough, Mrs. Milo Singer, Mrs. Jesse Flory, Mrs. Simon Schoonover and Mrs. Russell Cramer had attended.

Tea was served after the program. Mrs. Elwood Grant had arranged the Harvest tea table with a cornucopia of Fall fruits, green candles in copper candleholders, and antique copper tea service.

Missionary Society Meets At Christman's

Cresco—Miss Marian Stewart was guest of honor, Saturday night, at a surprise birthday party at her home, given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart.

After the opening of the many gifts and cards which she received, games were played. Refreshments of ice cream, cake, and soda were served to the following: Misses Youndale Price, Mary Bender, Alvesta Nauman, Gloria Mader, Carolyn Stewart, LaVerna Nauman, and Marian Stewart; Kenneth Nauman and Billy Stewart; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wicks Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hoar; and Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart.

Invited but unable to attend was Mrs. Kenneth Metzgar, who sent her gift.

Stroudsburgs Around The

Miss Mabel Ace, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Carlton, of Cresco; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Layton and son, John, of Trenton, N. J., were callers at the home of Miss Grace Smiley, East Stroudsburg RD 3 on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Dorothy Larsen of New York spent the weekend with Mrs. Lizzie LeBar and son, Raymond, at Craigs Meadows.

Couple Wed In New Home In Barrett

Miss Evelyn Lucille Sickler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sickler, Canadensis, and Walter Henry Hewlings Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hewlings, Mountaintown, were united in marriage Thursday, October 16 at 7:00 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the young couple's newly built home, by Rev. Robert K. Stansfield, former pastor of the Canadensis Moravian Church and now pastor of the Tremont Terrace Moravian Church, Bronx, New York.

The home was decorated with autumn flowers and leaves.

Miss Sickler wore a beige faille dress with a black velvet princess collar, and an orchid corsage.

Miss Roberta Sickler was her sister's bridesmaid and wore a light brown dress and a corsage of yellow pom-poms.

Donald Hewlings, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Charles Hewlings and Robert Sickler were the ring-bearers.

The bride's table was decorated with white candles and pom-poms and was centered with a cake surmounted with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a green dress and a corsage of yellow pom-poms. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue dress and a corsage of white pom-poms.

Following the wedding and reception, Mr. and Mrs. Hewlings left on a short wedding trip.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

If I had a theme song for today, I'd be humming, "OLD DAN RIVER" — because the new Hand-Cut packets from the famous Dan River Mills are the brightest news in many a day. These materials in the sheet lengths, ranging from 3 yards to five yards, are of first quality, completely washable. Their colors are absolutely fast — and they're fast drying too, retaining their original crisp finish. If you're in a saving mood, do look at these pre-cut in our domestic department today. OLD DAN RIVER may just MOVE along, but Dan River will surely go out in a rush as soon as wise shoppers see these fabrics combining the maximum in beauty and duty. . . . Sha-ga-nashe Wa-du-lee means Crazy White Man in the language of the Canadian wilderness. It is a term applied to Richard Moreau, when he ventured into the wilds of this neighboring country, and it is the title of the book he wrote about his experiences there. Fascinating reading, the price is $2.75, in our book department. . . . Also new there are several inexpensive reprints which would make welcome additions to your library, or the book shelves of your friends come Christmas: Bennett Cerf's "Laughter Incorporated" for instance, or James Metcalf's "More Poem Portraits." "Another book I'd love owning is "My American Heritage," a beautifully bound collection of poems, speeches, and songs typical of this wonderful land of ours. The price is just $3. . . . Want to be Flora Dora? Why not a Can Can petticoat such as we're displaying now in our lingerie department? These half slips, sized small, medium, and large, are black tulle with under-ruffles of rose and pink. It's a variable dash of tabasco for your wardrobe. . . . Another bewitching half slip, priced at $7.98, has the trade name "Colony Club." In this we find the epitome of glamour — black nylon satin, with a wide black nylon marquisette ruffle enriched by schiff embroidery in white. There are bows in the ruffle design — and don't tell me that the girl who buys one isn't "bow" conscious! . . . Today is Weston Cookie Day; a day for munching, crunching, and dunking! . . . I'm not what you'd call a clock-watcher, but if I were, my personal vote would be for watching the mahogany "double-decker" clock in Marion Leedom's department. It has a barometer in its upper story, and is priced at $25. Even if you can't read a barometer yourself think of the impression your guests would carry away. It's impressive, that's what. . . . Surprise! That new shipment of blouses from Hungary is NEW and different. Instead of cotton, these are white rayon crepe, with the usual hand-embroidery in pulsating colors. On the same center-aisle table at the same price — $2.98 — there are some truly fine handbags of plastic finished to resemble suede, calf, or crocodile. There's a tax on the bags, naturally! . . . Look! like Beckshires has discovered a new place for a lady to carry a pencil. One is run completely through the top of a Berkshire stocking on our hosiery counter, just to prove that, like Calvin Coolidge, it "does not choose to run." A stocking like that I vote for!

American Cage League Decides To Disband

New York, (AP)—The 24-year-old American Basketball League last night voted to suspend operations after two cities withdrew when they failed to receive approval to play former college stars involved in the point-fixing scandals.

John J. O'Brien, who resigned as president, said Jersey City, N. J., withdrew its application for league membership and Elmira, N. Y., followed before a vote actually was taken on the status of the former college players.

Jersey City had announced it intended to play two former Kentucky stars, Alex Groza and Ralph Beard, and Sherman White, ex-Long Island University ace. Elmira had signed Bill Spivey, another former Kentucky star under indictment in connection with the scandals.

No Dice

Representatives of the five other cities—Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and Hazleton in Pennsylvania and Manchester and Bridgeport in Connecticut—decided they would be unable to operate under such a geographic set-up.

The professional league has operated continuously since 1928, except in 1932 when operations were suspended because of the depression.

O'Brien said Bernie Glick announced the withdrawal of Jersey City's application after a long discussion indicated the league would not approve the playing of the ex-college stars.

Elmira, represented by Arthur Snyder, also announced its withdrawal before a vote was taken on Spivey.

William Morgan of Hazleton, president of the Eastern Professional League of Pennsylvania, said an attempt would be made to bring Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and Hazleton into the Eastern circuit at a meeting in Wilkes-Barre next Sunday.

O'Brien said he didn't know whether the other clubs, including Jersey City and Elmira, would operate independently.

Anderson Drops Unanimous Nod

New York, (AP)—Johnny di Gilio, 136, Bayonne, N. J., scored a unanimous eight-round decision over Sam Anderson, 130½, Pittsburgh, at Sunnyside Gardens last night.

Floored

Anderson was floored for the mandatory count of eight in the sixth round when di Gilio landed a hard right to the head.

Grimsley Likes California, Wisconsin, Michigan State

New York, (AP)—The customers always write. "Dear Sir," inquires a New Orleans band leader, "Why is it that last year you picked so many upsets but this year you go along with the favorites?"

It isn't that we string with the favorites. It's just that when we pick 'em, they automatically become favorites.

Score last week: 44 correct, eight wrong, percentage .846. Let's try again:

California over Southern California: Southern Cal. favored by six points but oh, Johnny, oh, Johnny, oh, Johnny.

Wisconsin over UCLA: This could be a Rose Bowl preview. The Volans may have their sights on California next week.

Duke over Virginia: The Cavaliers get a taste of inflation in the North "a million" Lutz, but a close and exciting game.

Michigan State over Penn State: The size of the score will depend on which of his three backfields "Bingle" Munn uses.

Maryland over Louisiana State: The Terrans split their T's and anything else that gets in the way these days.

Georgia Tech over Vanderbilt: The Commodores have fooled us all year and can do it again by beating a fine Tech team.

Oklahoma over Kansas State: Our percentage could fatten up on games like this. The Sooner in a romp.

Notre Dame over North Carolina: The Irish have zigged when we thought they'd zag this year. They should zig-zag past N. C.

Army over Columbia: Lou Little's Lions have an emotional letdown after their great Penn fight.

Penn over Navy: Bones Adams and Walt Hynoski star for the Quakers whose defense should contain the midshipmen.

Texas over Rice: Gib Dawson has regained the form expected of him and the Longhorns are on a stampede.

Michigan over Minnesota: When the Wolverines bounced they bounced high. Now a real Big Ten title threat.

East-Boston University over Lehigh, Bucknell over Colgate, Princeton over Cornell, Yale over Lafayette, Dartmouth over Harvard, Temple over NYU, Pittsburgh over West Virginia, Rutgers over Brown, Holy Cross over Syracuse.

Midwest-Indiana over Northwestern, Oklahoma A&M over Detroit, Illinois over Purdue, Ohio State over Iowa.

South-Alabama over Mississippi State, Tulane over Auburn, William & Mary over Richmond, Georgia over Florida.

Far West-Stanford over Washington, Utah over Wyoming, Colorado State over Washington State, Colorado over Nebraska, Oregon over Montana.

Match Race Scheduled For Pimlico Special

Baltimore, (AP)—A match race, fifth in the history of the famous Pimlico Special, was assured yesterday when only General Staff and one Hitter were entered officially for tomorrow's $25,000 winner-take-all classic.

The snooty special is by invitation only, and the mile and three sixteenth event is being raced for the sixteenth time at ancient Pimlico.

One Hitter is from the Green-Terrace Stable of John Hay "Jack" Whitney and his sister, Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson, and the six-year-old son of Shut-Out-Bold Anna will be seeking his second victory in the Special. One Hitter won it in 1950, and a triumph over General Staff will make him only the second horse to take the race twice.

Maryland's Challenor won the Special in 1939 and 1940, the latter also a two horse match race with Can't Wait.

DuBois Grid Coach Signs New Contract

DuBois, Pa., (AP)—"Duke" Burkholder signed a three-year renewal contract as football coach at DuBois High School.

Fine Record

Since coming here in 1949, Burkholder has seen his grid teams win 26, tie two and lose only seven.

Burkholder gets $1,500 a year for his coaching duties in addition to his regular salary as an instructor at the school.

A's Lose Publicity Director

Philadelphia, (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics announced yesterday the resignation of publicity director Dick Armstrong.

He has held the post since the end of the 1949 season. Armstrong came into the A's baseball operation as a player at Martinsville, Va., and Lancaster, Pa., in the 1946-7 season and served as business manager of the A's farm team at Portsmouth, O., in 1948 and 1949 before transferring to Philadelphia.

New Job

Armstrong said he has accepted a new position with W. Wallis Orr, Inc., a Philadelphia advertising agency. No successor to the A's post has been announced.

Bangor Plays Host To Coplay

Slaters At Full Strength For Contest

Bangor — Bangor High will close its night football schedule today, when the Slaters play host to Coplay under the lights at Memorial Park. The kickoff for the Lehigh-Northampton League tussle will take place at 8 p.m.

The Slaters, who lost their only league outing to East Stroudsburg and Wilson Borough, will be in search of their initial circuit victory today.

Coplay, a team that has yet to win this season, will present an aerial minded contingent that is short on man power. The Coplay club has inflicted virtually all of its damage by passes this season.

Bangor will be out to improve on its record of two victories and three setbacks. In addition to East Stroudsburg and Wilson, the Slaters have fallen before Stroudsburg. The charges of Coach Gram vill Evans on the other hand own victories over Catasauqua and Palmyra, both of the Lehigh Valley League.

The Slaters will enter today's contest at full strength, save for Rodney Miller, ace halfback who is scheduled to return to action against Nazareth next week. Miller suffered a broken ankle July when he was injured in a game against Nazareth.

Bangor suffered several minor injuries in its victory over Palmyra last week, but none will keep players out of action.

Evans announced yesterday that the starting offensive array would feature Joe Hend, left end; Ralph Sienlake, left tackle; Danny Pullo, left guard; Jim Rowlands, center; Nick Castellucci, right guard; Tom Williams, right tackle; Joe D'Imperio, right end; George Dallesandro, quarterback; Jack Finelli, left half; Tony Falcone, right half, and Mike DeVito, fullback.

George Dally will handle a tackle job on defense, while Pat Pellicchia and Nick Cutturo will be in the game at guards when Palmyra has the ball. Duane Miller and Dale LaBar will appear in the backfield on defense.

It Pays To Know McCauley

Salem, N. H., (AP)—Bill McCauley of the Boston Daily Record became the first New England horse racing handicapper to click with a clean sweep yesterday when he selected the winners in all eight races at Rockingham Park.

Rams To Welcome Warriors With Plenty Of Lettermen

West Chester — No less than 32 lettermen—among them the outstanding stars of 1951—adorn the squad which carries the colors of West Chester Teachers College this season.

Coch Glenn Killinger, former Penn State All-American, started the season with 23 lettermen on his roster. A day before the opening game, Dave DeFaleo, sophomore guard who was scheduled to start, withdrew from college. There have been no other defections from the ranks.

The list of veterans contains a complete offensive backfield. And in it are halfbacks Fred Prender and Earl Hersh, who were among the 10 top scorers in Pennsylvania colleges last fall. Prender, in fact, was the State's number one scorer with 16 touchdowns and 73 extra points. Hersh scored at least one touchdown in every game last season.

Ray Spafford, a smooth ball-handler and accurate passer, is again on duty as operator of the Rams. "T" and stacky Alex Neiman has returned to his fullbacking chores.

On the offensive line are, ve lettermen. Line Coach Jim Bender has replaced DeFaleo at the right guard spot with Charley Weber, the potential Little All-American lineman, who appears with both the attacking and defensive platoons. A six-foot, 200-pounder the former Abington High ace appears at tackle on defense. He has played in every game of the past two years with the Ram varsity and has been a standout thus far in 1952.

Weber and Hersh are co-players of the Rams.

Along with Weber, Bender has tackles Bob Janick and John Duff, wingman Dick Pacaroni and center Al Stashis as veteran offensive performers. The newcomers on the line are Ronald Gaski, a former Hazleton High star, who is in his freshman year at West Chester, and Tony Sosia, a junior guard, who has had two years of varsity experience but just missed winning letters.

On defense, Ed Cardner, the former Ocean City, N. J. High coach who replaced Jack Yoh as Killinger's backfield aid, also has a complete contingent of backs. Jim Hagan, John Campbell and Walt Buechele were regulars behind the line last fall, while Dave Dolbin, now a fullback, won his letter as an end in 1951.

Rowing Slated For Syracuse

New York, (AP)—The 1953 Intercollegiate Rowing Championships will be held at Syracuse's Onondaga Lake on Saturday, June 20. It will be the second straight year that the regatta, once known as the "Toughkeepsie Regatta," will be raced over Onondaga.

Decision

Secretary Asa Bushnell yesterday announced the decision of the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association to return to the normally tranquil course.

Native Dancer Quits For Season

Baltimore, (AP)—Native Dancer is retiring as undefeated two-year-old champion "money winner" to rest for an assault on racing's triple crown next year. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt announced yesterday through the Maryland Jockey Club.

Finished

The owner of the gray colt told the Jockey Club Native Dancer was finished racing this year.

Majors May Be Headed For Player Revolt

Chicago, (AP)—Baseball may be headed for a player revolt if the majors continue to expand their night - game schedule. General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox said yesterday.

"Several clubs in the American League may increase the number of night games next season," he said. "If they go too far I wouldn't be surprised if there is a big squawk from the players' committee with the possibility the players may demand a limit on night baseball."

Upsets Routine

Lane said night baseball disrupts the players' living habits and that "unquestionably it is shortening their baseball careers."

One of the biggest, if not the biggest, crowd ever to follow an East Stroudsburg High School athletic team on the road, will make the trip to Wilson Borough tomorrow, to watch the undefeated Cavaliers stack up against once-beaten Wilson. However, both clubs have yet to suffer their initial setback in Lehigh-Northampton League play thus far this season. If tomorrow's following isn't the largest in the history of athletics at the N. Courtland St. school, it will most certainly be the biggest crowd of people to ever follow an East Stroudsburg High grid machine abroad.

There is a disturbing undertone among the adults of East Stroudsburg at the present time, dealing with the fact that Wilson will be a soft touch for the Cavaliers. This belief appears to be founded on the basis of comparative scores. Judging football teams on comparative scores is probably the most misleading factor in picking winners and losers in modern football. It's true that Wilson has given up 44 points thus far this season, but it is only fair to point out that 28 of the markers registered against the Warriors were run up by one tied, but undefeated Easton High, in the opening game of the season for both teams.

The Warriors also gave up 14 points to Coplay, but there is certainly a catch in this score. Judd Hall, highly regarded Wilson mentor, used his offensive unit on defense against Coplay, and then played his regular defensive unit on offense. That was before the second and third stringers swung into action. Muhlenberg Township was held scoreless by the Warriors and Bangor accounted for the other six points against the 1952 edition of the Wilson Borough Warriors. Regardless of the outcome of tomorrow's long awaited contest, you can rest assured that Wilson will be the best team that East Stroudsburg has stacked up against thus far this season.

Following tomorrow's grid battle on foreign soil, the Cavaliers can look forward to the good fortune of winding up the season at Memorial Stadium, as the last three games on the schedule are listed for the Cavaliers' backyard. The charges of Coach Jack Kist play host to Coplay a week from tomorrow night, then Nazareth, in another great ball game, on Saturday, November 15, and then of course the top battle of the year, when the maroon and white Stroudsburg contingent invades Memorial Stadium on Thanksgiving Day morning, for the 1952 version of the "Battle of the Boroughs". Stroudsburg has yet to lose to East Stroudsburg in this annual classic. However, hopes are high on N. Courtland St. and surrounding streets for revenge this season.

Stroudsburg also stacks up against a plenty good foe tomorrow when the Mountaineers also hit the road to battle Whitehall High. Whitehall is one of the most highly regarded squads in the Lehigh Valley League, although the club can't be classed as unbeat. On any given Saturday the Mountaineers can rate with the top teams in its circuit, and I believe that most everyone will agree that the charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis would be featuring a much better record than they are at the present time, if the squad hadn't been beset by injuries since the opening game of the season.

Not once since the Bangor contest has Stulgaitis been able to put his full team into action and this is the primary factor in Stroudsburg currently supporting a record of three victories and two setbacks. Believe me, if the Mountaineers hadn't been hampered by injuries all season, they too would be supporting a record of five wins and no defeats going into today's battle, as is the case with East Stroudsburg.

However, regardless of what happens to the Mountaineers during the remainder of the campaign, the club will never again be at full strength for the present campaign, as Billy "Bump" Metzger, current resident at the Monroe County General Hospital, is finished with football at Stroudsburg High school.

Football fans of the area will have to hit the road this weekend if they want to see one of the local grid machines in action, as East Stroudsburg State Teachers College also plays on foreign soil this week, meeting West Chester, at West Chester, tonight. Then, as has happened so often in recent years, Saturday, Nov. 15 will present the area with a feast in football. ESSTC plays host to Arnold, East Stroudsburg is at home with Nazareth and Stroudsburg entertains Northampton. All kickoffs are at 2 p. m. Who goes where? ? ?

The numeral 14 has been the magic key to success and failure for ESSTC's grid machine this year. The Warriors defeated Kings, 14-6, lost to Shippensburg, 14-7, and then took the measure of Mansfield, 14-12. The only game not involving the number 14 was the opening contest of the season, when ESSTC fell before Millersville, 7-0.

AP Picks Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg To Win

Harrisburg (P)—Long winning streaks are few and far between along the scholastic football front today but the two best seem safe for at least another weekend.

They belong to Bellwood-Antis of the 53-member Western Conference and West Scranton of the equal sized Eastern.

Bellwood, a leading contender for western honors, is credited with a string of 33 straight regular-season victories since 1949 and should have little trouble against a Portage Joint outfit that has lost twice in six games.

Bellwood, with six on the right side of the ledger in '52 lost a post season game after 10 triumphs last season. Entering the second half of the campaign the western power is ranked fourth in the conference but is tied with Ebersburg in the win column.

West Scranton is rated at least two touchdowns better than an Olyphant team that has lost half of its first six games. The Scranton gridders have taken 13 in a row.

Besides a battle between two of this year's 18 remaining major unbeaten untied eleven the card for the seventh week of 1952 has four special attractions in as many leagues.

The battle of major unbeaten, between Upper Darby and Abington, may decide the best in the Philadelphia area this year. Upper Darby gets the nod in a close one.

The best game in the Pittsburgh area WPIAL looks like the Aliquippa-Sharon affair. Aliquippa, unbeaten and untied in "AA" competition is one of four eleven from an original 36 still in running for conference honors.

Aliquippa has won three "AA" games and seems a bit stronger than a rugged Sharon outfit that has won the same number after dropping its initial contest.

The Western Conference schedule has two unbeaten powers lined up against each other. Ebersburg, a class "A" team with six straight, rates the nod over class "B" Barnesboro, owner of an identical record.

It's the offensive leader against the defensive power in the South Penn's important Gettysburg-Chambersburg game. Chambersburg, whose three league opponents have scored a total of one touchdown, is the choice to beat back the threat of Gettysburg's Trojans, the defending champion.

An Eastern Conference feature has Mt. Carmel, third to beat Pottsville for the first time in history in the sixth game between the two. Once-tied Easton is the slim choice over once-beaten Bethlehem in the Big Three battle of the day. But, as usual in such traditional affairs, form means nothing.

Last week's AP selections were the best of the upset-studded year, 78.9 per cent.

East Stroudsburg Teachers Invade West Chester Field

Martz Still Hampered By Back Injury

An injury "bug-a-boo" that has hung over the grid machine of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College since the opening game of the current campaign shows no signs of relaxing its grip, as the Warriors prepare to invade West Chester today for a night game against the powerful West Chester Rams, one of Pennsylvania's undefeated football teams. The kickoff is scheduled to take place at 8 p.m.

Coach Gene Martin, who has had as much chance to serve as a man of medicine as that of a football mentor, announced that

PROBABLE LINEUPS

Morris	LT
Brown	LT
Steever	LT

five key men are on the injured list for today's battle, the biggest of each season for the Warriors.

The veteran ESSTC mentor announced that Charley Shaw, outstanding defensive halfback, would probably miss this contest, as he did last Saturday, because of a knee injury.

Art Schaefer, another outstanding defensive halfback who has been used very sparingly this season because of a knee injury, is making the trip to West Chester, but his condition, as far as playing is concerned, remains doubtful.

Martin "Ducky" Martz, East Stroudsburg High school graduate, who has turned into the chief ESSTC offensive weapon, despite the fact that the slightly built halfback is only a freshman, will probably be used sparingly in today's battle. Martz suffered a back injury last week against Mansfield, and while not serious, it has hampered Martz's running.

Don Toth, out of the lineup for most of the present campaign, returned to action against Mansfield and promptly suffered a head injury. The hard running back will be used very sparingly today.

Larry Kiek, highly regarded end, is also hampered by a back injury.

The ESSTC backfield, an offense, will open with Harry Steever at quarterback; Ted Murray, left tackle; Jack Parks, right half, and Les Brubaker, fullback.

ESSTC hasn't registered a victory over West Chester since 1942, when the Warriors enjoyed their last undefeated campaign on the gridiron. However, the Rams annually encounter their toughest foe of the season in the red and black clad ESSTC grid machine.

The same two arch rivals clash on the Normal Hill field next season.

South Carolina Scores On Pass To Defeat Clemson, 6-0

Columbia, S. C., (P)—Quarterback Johnny Gramling passed South Carolina to a touchdown on the opening series of plays for a 6-0 football victory against an offensively weak Clemson before 35,000 here yesterday.

Gramling watched most of the legislature-ordered game from the bench as he suffered a head injury soon after steering his teammates to the lone touchdown.

Kickoff

South Carolina took the opening kickoff but soon was forced to punt from its 32. The bounding ball brushed defensive halfback Archie Baker of Clemson as it came down on the Clemson 32. South Carolina back Gene Wilson fell on the ball. A pass failed and a running play picked up three. Then Gramling hit end Clyde Bennett on the 19, for a first down. The next play found him reaching Wilson on the goal line for the score. Jim Jarrett's conversion kick was wide.

That was the ball game—the one the South Carolina General Assembly ordered by law so that the teams could meet here in their 50th State Fair game, despite a Southern Conference suspension of Clemson for playing in a forbidden bowl game last January.

Coast League Adopts Schedule

Los Angeles, (P)—The Pacific Coast League yesterday adopted a 176-game schedule for 1953—four games shorter than the 1952 season.

Dates

The 1953 card will open March 31 and end September 13.

Status Of Mantle Unknown

Fl. Hill, Okla., (P)—Army doctors completed a medical examination of Mickey Mantle yesterday and then announced that any report on the New York Yankee baseball star's fitness for military service must come later from the Oklahoma City recruiting office.

Mantle prepared to leave for his home in Commerce, Okla., immediately after the examination.

Two Dads

Officials at the Oklahoma City recruiting office said it probably will be two days before the medical results will be announced.

The 21-year-old baseball star is now classified 4-F because of a bone infection, osteomyelitis, in his left leg.

Rule Changes Listed For High School Ball

Chicago, (P)—Rules against catcher interference, delay of game and illegal blocking on double plays have been tightened for the nation's 10,000 high school baseball teams.

The code revision for 1953 was announced yesterday by the baseball committee of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations.

The committee also approved use of laminated bats constructed of several pieces of wood bonded together in place of standard bats made of a single piece of wood.

The catcher interference rule formerly applied to a catcher touching the batter's bat on a squeeze play or steal. Now it applies to any pitch, the batter or each runner advancing a base, if action by the batter doesn't produce greater success.

Authority

The umpire will have greater authority in ending any "war of nerve" between pitcher and batter resulting in unjustifiable delay of the game.

He can start the allotted count of 30 seconds for a pitcher to deliver the ball when he sees fit, especially if the catcher keeps walking to the mound between pitches or the pitcher fiddles too long before delivery. If the batter insists on stepping out of the box at delivery, the umpire will not allow time out unless there is really something in the batter's eye or other reason for the action.

A base-runner will be called for illegal blocking if he swings out of the base-path to annoy the fielder attempting the double play, or if he impedes the fielder after the out has been made at the base involved.

Hogan Frowns On Fix Players

New York, (P)—Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said yesterday that it would be "a serious error of judgment and a distinct disservice to amateur and professional sports" to allow any basketball players who were indicted or convicted in the fix scandals to play professional ball.

Controversy

Hogan commented after being asked about a current controversy which arose when certain teams of the American Basketball League sought league permission to hire some of the players.

Charles Favored To Win Over Brion In Garden Bout Today

New York, (P)—Ezzard Charles was a three-to-one favorite yesterday to whip husky Cesar Brion of the Argentine today and keep himself in good standing with the popular "I want Rocky Marciano" club.

Every walking heavyweight wants a crack at the heavyweight king and Brion is no exception, either. If he can upset the new, new Charles in Madison Square Garden, the 12th ranking heavy from the Gaucho country will move close to the top of the class.

The South American talks a good fight but the chances are, like the odds indicate, that he will take a sound drubbing in the national television 10 rounder.

Changed Fighter

Charles says he is a changed fighter since he lost his crown to "Jersey Joe" Walcott and a controversial decision to Rex Layne.

"I'm going to be in there trying for a knockout all the time now," said the grimly determined ex-champ. "I know now you've got to be in there trying for the kays all the time."

In his first fight since the Layne loss, a two rounds to one round, seven rounds even defeat on Referee Jack Dempsey's word scorecard, Ezzard dumped Bernie Reynolds, ye olde punching bag, in two heats at Cincinnati, October 6. That's about a stroke under par for the Reynolds course.

"That's the way to do it and I hope to continue the practice," said Ezzard. Only he's said that before. This time he has to produce. At 31 there can't be many more unveilings of the new Charles, the sharp-striking Cincinnati Cobra.

Commercial 'C' Rolls

Commercial "C" League keggers swing into action at Harmon's Recreation today, at 9:15 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Tru-Matic vs. Worthington Mower.

Alleys three and four—Regina Hotel vs. Kreamer Ice Cream.

Alleys five and six—Cole's Drug Store vs. Lanterman's Funeral Home.

Lakers Battle All-Star Five

Chicago, (P)—Coach "Phog" Allen's hand-picked campus squad and the Minneapolis Lakers clash before a capacity 18,000 at the Chicago Stadium tonight trying to smash a six-all, pro-college deadlock in the 13th annual all-star basketball classic.

The contest, sponsored by the Chicago Herald-American, will find the champion Lakers of the National Basketball Association seeking their fourth straight victory over the collegians.

Program Given By Pupils Of Junior High

An unusual program was presented at S-A homeroom at East Stroudsburg Junior High School yesterday morning. Particular interest was shown in the demonstration of counting in various foreign languages. Lester W. Dimmick was in charge.

Pupils in the room counted from one to five in German, Spanish, Italian, Pennsylvania Dutch, Chinese and Japanese.

They had been instructed by parents and friends who had had contact in the various languages. Miss Ruth Flory's 7-2 arithmetic section was in charge of the demonstration.

The program was in charge of Robert Kassner, homeroom president. The Junior High band was heard in selections at the opening and close of the program, under the direction of Clement Wiedmeyer, band instructor in the school system.

King Beers read a poem, "The Frost Is On The Pumpkin." Joan Coffman and Doris Shea were heard in a vocal duet, "One Little Candle," with Robert Neyhart accompanying. Robert Kassner played a cornet solo, "Dark Eyes" with Neyhart accompanying.

Judge Fred W. Davis, Civil Defense director in Monroe County, spoke to the students in which he brought out how C. D. affects them and how they could be of assistance in an emergency, declaring that "C. D. is everybody's job."

300 Attend COP Dinner At Milford

Milford—Three hundred Pike Countyans and neighbors gathered at the Tom Quick Inn for the Republican rally and dinner. The Pike County Council of Republican Women sponsored the rally with cooperation of the Pike County Republican Committee.

The large banner and slogan "A Vote For Ike Is A Vote For Pike," designed for the council by Harold Rogers of Dingman's Ferry, which made its debut on a float in the Pennsylvania Day parade, was prominently displayed on one wall, while "Ike" and "Dick" smiled down on the enthusiastic throng from their scattered poster positions.

Mrs. John C. Tew, president of the Women's Council, presided.

Judge Fred W. Davis, of Monroe, offered the invocation.

A dinner, featuring Pike County roast caponnet, was served. All the guests jined on the "I Like Ike" buttons they found at their places.

The speakers were: J. Russell Eshbach, county commissioner and chairman of the Pike County Republican Committee; August Metz Jr., Pike County representative in the Pennsylvania General Assembly, candidate for reelection; Mrs. William Rosenfield, of the board of the State Council of Republican Women and representative of Northeast Pennsylvania on the Membership Committee of the State Council of Republican Women; Mrs. Russell Dixon, president of the Pennsylvania State Council of Republican Women; Weldon B. Heyburn, auditor general and candidate for the office of State Treasurer; Sen. Montgomery Crowe, and Joseph Carrigan, Congressman, candidate for reelection.

The guests enjoyed dancing to the music of Frank Calabria's band.

The rally committee was headed by Mrs. Ralph Dodd of Milford.
